Attorney and Real Estate Agent.

The Gazette is under a misapprehension on the subject of the prisoners brought here by Maj. Thomas. He brought eleven prisoners and was paid for three guards—the law allowed him. The jailer of Jefferson was paid no more than the amount allowed by law for similar services. Col. Withrow disclaims having made the statement attributed to him by the Gazette. He says he said nothing of the kind.

NOTICE.—Parties wishing to enter the German class (which will be opened on Monday, February 22, in room No. 2, Public School Building) will apply at once to Jos. Otto Mauer or Prof. Biowden. A full course of German will be taught. Terms very reasonable. 2t

W. N. HOGAN, Esq., has purchased the Williamstown, Ky., Sentinel from Mr. CHAS. B. BRADLEY, and will hereafter edit and publish the same. The new editor copies and double-ends the Mt. Sterling Sentinel's editorial, warmly advocating the claims of Col. JOHNSTON to the Democratic nomination for Governor.

A young lady, a resident of a sister State, has been visiting friends in Franklin county for the last few weeks. A short time after her arrival here, she thought she would like to have some winter apples. A few days ago, she was seen wandering around the orchard, and when asked what she was looking for, she said that she couldn't find any winter apples, that she had looked on every tree in the orchard, and would like to know where winter apples grew if they didn't grow on trees.

A WONDERFUL SNAKE CUCUMBER.—We are indebted to Mrs. HENRY C. HODGES, of Benson, for one of the wonders of the vegetable kingdom, in the shape of a pickled "snake cucumber," 3 feet 3 inches long, which is almost exactly in the shape of an ordinary black snake—flat, triangular head, and long tapering body, tail and all—which, with others like it, was grown in her garden near Benson. Mr. Hodges procured the seed of this singularly-shaped cucumber from Mr. WILLIAMSON, a noted farmer and horticulturist of the vicinity of Gallatin, Tennessee. The "snake" seems to be a good article of pickle, and we are told that, when young and green, it is very nice and tender to cut up and eat with a relish of onions.

"KENTUCKY LIVE STOCK RECORD."—This is the appropriate title of a new sixteen-page weekly journal started at Lexington on the 5th inst., the first number of which, however, did not reach us until Tuesday. It is edited with experienced skill and marked ability by Mr. B. G. BURCE, long well and favorably known to the Live-Stock world of America as a writer on the staff of The Turf, Field and Farm, of New York, and also as a dealer in thoroughbred and trotting stock. The number before us, is most systematically and carefully got up in every department of a live-stock journal, and gives promise by its ability and first-class appearance, of commanding a wide circulation and an abundantly profitable success. Subscription price $3 a year, in advance. Address B. G. BURCE, 17 Jordan's Row, Lexington, Ky.

A CARD FROM DR. B. F. DUVALL.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 17th, 1875. EDITORS YEOMAN: Some weeks since, I learned that a report was in circulation that I had quit the practice of my profession. I then regarded it as an idle story, unworthy of notice; but, more recently, it has come to my knowledge, that certain parties unknown to me, but who, I fear, are not well disposed toward me, are promulgating the same report. The object of this card is, simply, to say, that I am still trying to remain in my profession, and, Deo volente, have no fears of success.

Respectfully, B. F. DUVALL.

Maj. C. J. HINKLE, of Shelbyville, a prominent candidate for Register of the Land Office, was in the city yesterday on business connected with the Common Schools of his county, of which he is the Commissioner.

RARA AVES.—A most singular incident is related by Mr. Benj. Townsend, the gentlemanly and reliable stage-driver between this city and Danville, connected with the total eclipse of the sun in August, 1869. Mr. T. says that he had stopped the stage on a hill near Harrodsburg for the passengers (of whom several were ladies) to witness the eclipse. And while every one was watching with intense interest the final disappearance of the sun, a flock of crows flew into the stage, and there remained until the reappearance of that luminary. After peering around and cawing most lustily a few moments they all took their departure, seeming to be badly fooled as to the shortness of the night.

"THE HOUSEKEEPER; A JOURNAL OF DOMESTIC ECONOMY."—This is the unique title of a monthly publication, of which too much cannot be said in its praise as a whole, and of its admirable get up in every particular. In typography, editorial taste and ability, systematic arrangement of subjects, &c., &c., it is absolutely abreast with the best periodical literature of our time. Good sense, taste, and refinement, shine in every department, from the motto, "Keep thy house, and thy house will keep thee," through "Miscellaneous," "The Kitchen," "The Dining-room," "The Laundry," "The Sitting-room," "The Library," "The Parlor," "The Bed Chamber," "The Window Garden," "The Toilet," "The Nursery," &c., &c., down to the end of as much good solid reading matter as is found in most magazines of double its price and pretensions. It is edited and published by Mr. HOWARD LOCKWOOD, 28 Beekman street, New York, for the extremely low price of $1.50 per annum, postage prepaid; and should be in every family in the land.

SHORT HORN RECORD.

The fourth volume of this valuable work is just out; but as we do not pretend to be posted in reference to Short-Horns, we copy a letter from a distinguished breeder in another State in reference to its merits: "I merely write this now to say, that no work has been published in England or America for the registering of pedigrees that has been conducted upon principles so liberal and impartial, and with such singular regard to the interests of all; and you [Major H. Evans, editor and compiler of the Record], as well as Mr. Alexander, have reason to be proud of what has been accomplished, in a quiet, unostentatious way, without any special efforts, and without making war upon others. You know that I regret that you happened to start the restrictive rule, instead of admitting all sufficiently well-bred to transmit Short-Horn characteristics, and how I would rejoice to see a policy more liberal established. Still I cannot, and never have, withheld the expressions of my unqualified approval of the work for its great accuracy, honesty, and impartiality, and the wonderful value and consequence of the plan of furnishing all the links in the lineage of each animal sent for record."

The volume is from the Yeoman press, and is in every respect a most creditable piece of work. This office has facilities for the execution of book work of every kind not exceeded by any office in the State—and is especially fitted up for the printing of Stock Catalogues and books of that character.

Mr. GEORGE LILLY will commence the publication of a newspaper at Falmouth, Ky., on the 1st April, to be called "The Falmouth Democrat."

Has the severe winter killed the peaches in this region, as it has in so many places further North? Will some of our farmers or horticulturists send us an answer to this question?

It is authoritatively announced from Washington by the chief of the New York Herald's reportorial staff, and other reliable journalists, that the President's self-stultifying Special Message in the interest of BULLY BROOKS and POWELL CLAYTON, of Arkansas, was a surprise to his Cabinet as well as to the whole outside world. It seems, he did not even consult the facile Attorney General WILLIAMS, who, last May, advised him (so reluctantly, it was thought), in favor of BAXTER, and against Brooks; but contented himself with the advice and counsel alone of that servile and notoriously corrupt creature, who has been gibbeted to everlasting infamy under the appropriate soubriquet of "Boss SHEPHERD." We leave every intelligent reader to make his own inevitable inferences from this brief statement of the facts in the history of an anomalous Special Message, which has done more to unmask the desperate and dangerous character of GRANT's unscrupulous ambition, than any single incident of his Administration up to this time.

The Danville "Kentucky Advocate" has taken on a new and gorgeously ornamental lithographed heading, with the coat of arms of the State and the motto, "United we stand, &c., in the cent; a railway train and railroad on one side and a steamboat, a plough, a city, a river, and mountains on the other; with all the emblems of agriculture, manufacturing, commerce, and the arts scattered around; and a beautiful wreath entwining the whole. In fact, it is a wonderful multum in parvo adding.

HON. JOHN YOUNG BROWN.

Dear John, I hear that thou art grieved because, they say, thou hast deceived The Speaker, god-like Mr. Blair, In Buttermilk at a feast Prepared by that sagacious beast, Who swears, "By God, I'll come again."

Don't cry, dear John; we oft forget That dogs at bay must have a sweat; That every house must have its wall. 'Tis Nature gives these formal laws; The same great force designed those jaws For some old farmer's harmless ass, To browse and Bray o'er New York grass, But by mistake they fell to Hale.

You're censured? Yes; but where's the house That hasn't been gnawed at by a mouse? Or where's the man, however nice, Who hasn't been pestered off with lice? Or where's the man of lofty soar, Who hasn't been ogled by a Hoar? Or where's the bird of cleanest claws That hasn't been pecked by dirty Doves?

Console yourself. You ain't the first That power and spleen have bound and curst.

And then—you might—feel impelled To say, you might have been expelled. The wonder is to us poor devils, Who live on these wild Western levels, That you got off so monstrous well. Just think, how many canting sinners, In Popish days, without their dinners, Have packed their trunks and gone to hell. Great God! You might have been clawed up By some ferocious House bail-pup.

And then—great Heaven! I'll say no more; But Ben, dear Ben, may have the floor Until his murderous sabre stroke Makes all feel sorry that he spoke; Because, you know, he never rose But what the Beast belied his clothes.

Be thankful; let them damn your ways— But count their censure highest praise.

S. H. J.

BISHOP DEKOVEN'S CONSECRATION TO BE CELEBRATED.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Members of the late diocesan canon have issued a protest, in the form of a memorial, which will be published in full in the morning papers. It sets forth the reasons why James DeKoven cannot, with their consent, be consecrated Bishop of Illinois. Their reasons are grouped under three heads.

First.—As to want of soundness of faith, which is so far doubtful at least as to form an impediment to his consecration within the meaning of the canons.

Second.—The effect of such consecration upon the church, which they assert would be especially disastrous in Illinois, the battleground of the so-called Reformed Episcopal Church.

To consecrate one of the leaders of the movement to observe the plain teachings of the church by imparting the subtleties of mediocrity, is to drive conscientious laymen from the field.

Third.—The invalidity of the alleged election. On this point they quote canonical law, and reproduce the ballot to show that the number of votes for DeKoven was not sufficient to elect him.

EDITORS YEOMAN: From the above there would seem to be a malcontent element among the Episcopals of Illinois, which is determined, at all hazards, to prevent that State from having a Bishop who is the choice of a majority. They profess to be dreadfully afraid of the so-called "Reformed Episcopal Church;" and yet, their animating spirit is identical with that of the Cummingsites themselves; and there can hardly be a doubt, that it would be better for all parties, if they would get at once into that organization, and so will go your liberty." Does Congress or the President know anything of this prophecy, and are they endeavoring to prevent or promote its fulfillment?—Courier-Journal.

TESTIMONY OF A REPUBLICAN.—Mayor League, of Memphis, who is a Republican, said to a reporter of the Memphis Appeal the other day, in speaking of Grant's administration: "I am free to tell you that it has been, and I am sorry to say, a complete failure. No man that I know of has had such an opportunity of doing good as President Grant. No man had a better opportunity of bringing able men to assist and co-operate with him than he has had; and yet the country at large has derived no benefit from his long term of office. The people are taxed almost out of existence. While the country, comparatively speaking, has been getting poorer and poorer, he and those around him have been doubling their salaries. And unless one is successful in being in one of the rings or connected with them, he does not know where to go in order to find a resting place."

RAILROAD WAR AND REDUCED RATES OF FREIGHT AND PASSENGER FARE.

There is war between the two great Railroad corporations, the Pennsylvania Central and the Baltimore and Ohio—Tom Scott on one side, and President Garrett on the other. After publishing their respective manifestoes, President Garrett fires the first gun by reducing the rates of passenger fare and freight on all his lines, as will be seen by the following:

Baltimore, Feb. 16.—There seems no prospect of a great war between the Pennsylvania and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads will be reconciled. President Garrett to-night states that President Scott's telegram of to-day is a tissue of gross misrepresentations.

In order to compel the Pennsylvania road to reopen the gateways of commerce to the people of Philadelphia and New York for the Baltimore and Ohio road and its connections, orders have been given by the Baltimore and Ohio, for an immense reduction of passenger fares between Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and the leading Western cities, viz: Between Chicago and Baltimore and Washington, from $16 to $10.

Between Cincinnati and Baltimore and Washington, from $23 to $15.

Between Louisville and Baltimore and Washington, from $20 to $12.

Between Pittsburgh and Baltimore and Washington, from $8.50 to $6.

A similar reduction has also been made between Philadelphia and Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Louisville and Pittsburgh. These reductions take effect at once. It is understood that the Baltimore and Ohio Company is arranging for a line of first-class steamships for the conveyance of freight between New York and Baltimore.

All its Western connections have telegraphed to the Baltimore and Ohio Company that they will cheerfully co-operate in its policy throughout, as long as the Pennsylvania road continues to obstruct its business with Philadelphia and New York.

LETTER FROM AN OCCASIONAL KANSAS CORRESPONDENT.

CENTRALIA, NEBRASKA, CO., KANSAS, February 10, 1875.

EDITORS YEOMAN: Thinking that a letter from one of old Kentucky's sons, distinguished only for having been born and raised in Frankfort, would be acceptable to many of your readers, I will comply with a demand which my conscience has often prompted me to do, viz: write to the YEOMAN. But where shall I begin? Not with a description of the country, for who has not heard of Kansas time and again, until it has become an old story. Kansas is widely known as a region of drought and grasshoppers; but we who have lived for years past in this State know that although we have the dark side presented to us just now, that we have seen Kansas teeming with abundance and rejoicing in prosperity; and we are anxiously looking forward to the time when we shall revel in abundance again. Had it not been for the grasshopper raid during July and August last, we would not have been any worse off than many portions of the older States. The crop of small grain was good and in abundance, and the prospect of a full crop of corn was all that could be desired until devoured by the grasshoppers. The destitution now prevailing in this State is principally among those who settled among us during the past year, and were relying upon the corn crop for subsistence during the winter. But very few persons in the older settled counties need assistance; still want prevails to an alarming extent in the frontier settlements of the State.

This county (Nemaha) is one of the most prosperous in the State. It was first settled eighteen years ago and now contains a population of 9,000. It is the third county west from the Missouri river and in the northern tier of counties, and contains an area of 1080 square miles. Two lines of railroad traverse the county from East to West, built and equipped without a single dollar, in bonds or otherwise, from the country. We have the finest Court House in the State, finished and paid for by seventy school houses in which schools are maintained on an average for five months in the year. The schools of the State are endowed by the organic act under which it was admitted as a State, with one eighteenth of all the land within its borders, and in addition thereto the public school fund now amounts to more than a quarter of a million of dollars, which we think is a better showing than any young State in the Union can make. Many different church organizations have an existence among us, while our towns boast of many fine church edifices. Taxes are lower here than in any other portion of the State, as we have no bonds to pay, nor any indebtedness of any kind to provide for, excepting the actual current expenses of the county.

All the crops do exceedingly well here; many are engaged in stock-raising, which has proved itself a very profitable occupation, as pasture and hay are as free on these everlasting hills as the air which we breathe. There are many thousands of acres of unoccupied land, which is covered, during the summer, with a luxuriant growth of grass of the bluestem variety, upon which stock subsists nearly the entire year; thus it costs comparatively nothing to feed stock during the season. Regarding the price of land with us, it ranges from $4 per acre for unimproved land, to $30 per acre for good farms, convenient to towns and railroads. One of the most important industries of the State is cheese-making. This county alone during the past year made upwards of fifty tons of cheese, which found a ready sale at the river towns, and in the St. Louis market, where it was pronounced fully equal to the celebrated "Western Reserve" of Ohio.

The climate is salubrious and uniform, from nearly every part of Uncle Sam's domain, is of the very best. We have experienced some severe cold this winter, but such extreme cold has never been known here before. But as this is already long and tedious, I will defer the rest for another letter. Yours, &c., A. J. BIRCHFIELD.

KENTUCKY INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Directors of the Kentucky Industrial Association is hereby called for Saturday, February 20th. Every Director is most earnestly urged to attend on the day named, as business of importance is to be transacted. The meeting will take place at the Capital Hotel. By order of the President.

"THE SKEET ANCHOR OF LIBERTY."—I am sorry to hear people say, "Why?" asked Laurens. "They will lose their habitus corporis," was the reply. "Lose their habitus corporis?" exclaimed Laurens. "Yes," said Lord Shelburne, "we purchased it with centuries of wrangling, many years of fighting, and had it confirmed by at least fifty acts of Parliament. All this taught the nation its value, and it is so ingrained into its creed, as the very foundation of their liberty, that no man or party will ever dare trample on it. Your people will pick it up and attempt to use it; but having cost them nothing, they will not know how to appreciate it. At the first great internal feud you have, the majority will trample on it and the people will permit it to be done, and so will go your liberty." Does Congress or the President know anything of this prophecy, and are they endeavoring to prevent or promote its fulfillment?—Courier-Journal.

TESTIMONY OF A REPUBLICAN.—Mayor League, of Memphis, who is a Republican, said to a reporter of the Memphis Appeal the other day, in speaking of Grant's administration: "I am free to tell you that it has been, and I am sorry to say, a complete failure. No man that I know of has had such an opportunity of doing good as President Grant. No man had a better opportunity of bringing able men to assist and co-operate with him than he has had; and yet the country at large has derived no benefit from his long term of office. The people are taxed almost out of existence. While the country, comparatively speaking, has been getting poorer and poorer, he and those around him have been doubling their salaries. And unless one is successful in being in one of the rings or connected with them, he does not know where to go in order to find a resting place."

BLOOD DISEASES.

The blood being the source from which our systems are built up and from which we derive our mental as well as physical capabilities, how important that it should be kept pure. If it contains any festering poisons all organic functions are weakened thereby. Settling upon important organs, as the lungs liver or kidneys, the effect is most disastrous. Hence it behooves every one to keep their blood in a perfectly healthy condition and more especially does this apply at this particular season of the year, viz: winter. No matter what the exciting cause may be, the real cause of a large proportion of all diseases is bad blood. Now Dr. Pierce does not wish to place his Golden Medical Discovery in the catalogue of quick patent nostrums by recommending it to cure every disease, nor does he so recommend it; on the contrary, there are hundreds of diseases that he acknowledges it will not cure; but what he does claim is this, that there is but one form of blood disease that it will not cure, and that disease is cancer. He does not recommend his Discovery for that disease, yet he knows it to be the most searching blood cleanser yet discovered, and that it will free blood and system of all other known blood poisons, be they animal, vegetable or mineral. The Golden Discovery is warranted by him to cure the worst forms of Skin Diseases, as all forms of Blotches, Pimples and Eruptions, also all Glandular Swellings, and the worst form of Scrofulous and Ulcerated Sores of Neck, Legs or other parts, and all Scrofulous Diseases of the bones, as White Swellings, Fever, Sores, Hip Joint and Spinal Diseases, all of which belongs to Scrofulous diseases.

W. GROVE STATION, Ia., July 14, 1872.

Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. DEAR SIR: My wife first became lame nine years ago. Swellings would appear and disappear on her hip, and she was gradually becoming reduced, and her whole system rotten with disease. In 1871 a swelling broke on her hip discharging large quantities, and since that time there are several openings. Have had five doctors at an expense of $125, who say nothing will do any good but a surgical operation.

July 16th, 1873, he writes thus: My wife has certainly received a great benefit from the use of your Discovery, for she was not able to get off the bed and was not expected to live a week when she commenced using it, a year ago. She has been lying most of her work for over six months. Has used twenty bottles and still using it. Her recovery is considered as almost a miracle, and we attribute it all to the use of your valuable medicine. I can cheerfully recommend it as a blood purifier and strength restorer.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—No matter what form of sickness you labor, there is one great truth you should keep in mind: All disease originates in an impure condition of the blood. Purify that, and the disease must depart; but you cannot purify the blood by the use of poisonous drugs, and exhaustive stimulants.
